Wayne County seniors to “Dine with the Doc”

Who: Dr. Gwendolyn Graddy-Dansby of Henry Ford Health Systems and Bella Marshall, chief operating officer of Wayne County. Graddy-Dansby is one of the area’s leading geriatricians. Her interests include aging well, African-American health issues, spirituality and aging and Alzheimer’s disease.

What: “Dine with the Doc” is a Wayne County government program that provides an opportunity for senior citizens to discuss health issues with a medical doctor. A question-and-answer session will follow a luncheon. More than 200 seniors are expected to attend.

Where: Northwest Activity Center, 18100 Meyers Road, Detroit.

Why: In its seventh year, Dine with the Doc gives Wayne County senior citizens a chance to learn more about senior healthy living and talk to a doctor in a relaxed setting.

When: Thursday April 30, 2009 from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Doctor’s remarks and Q/A to begin at approximately 11:45 a.m.
