

The "Buzz" in Wayne County was the Annual Spelling Bee

Wayne County Executive Robert Ficano hosted the annual Wayne County Senior Spelling Bee held at the Friendship Station, the senior citizen center on Schoolcraft in Plymouth Township. The event on May 12 included lunch, raffle gifts, and prizes.

Plymouth City Commissioner Dave Workman and 35TH District Court Judge Jim Plakas served as the judges for the event.

In front of an audience of about 100 people, Westland's Leonard Kozle and Gail MacDonald both earned first place, correctly spelling "vengeance" as the last and final word. The pair, a dynamic duo, also won the countywide spelling bee last year.

The second place winners were Faye Lindsay of Plymouth and Emily Rosenquist of Plymouth Township and in third place was Marilyn Reinink of Westland and Canton resident Larry Hindle.
